

Website takes on brokers over first homebuyers

A new website, designed to be a 'one-stop portal' for first homebuyers, could provide competition to brokers targeting this market.

Called Our Home Sweet Home (ourhomesweethome.com.au), it offers "independent" information to help first homebuyers achieve their ownership dream.

However, users are encouraged to contact its lenders' partners – Westpac, ANZ and BankWest – directly for information about their mortgage products. Users can also take advantage of 'special offers' should they make enquiries via these lenders.

There are also special member deals on services provided by property reporting company Residex and law firm Mills Oakley.
